TAFT IS IN TOWN TO TAKE A REST

Returns from New Haven with Weary Look.

GOES TO HOT SPRINGS SOON

Says He Will Remain There Until September 1, with Exception of Short Visit to Cincinnati-Will Speak in Few Large Cities-Declines to Discuss Chairmanship.

William H. Taft, Republican Presidential nominee, arrived in Washington at 19:55 o'clock last night, tired out from his strenuous week at New Haven, and "At the Sign of the Stein" firmly determined to take a rest of several weeks as soon as he turns over the War Department to his successor, Gen. Luke E. Wright.

"I would not say we did not discuss politics at Oyster Bay to-day, because that would not be true," said Secretary Taft. "We did discuss politics, but I Paddlers, in Black Face, Entertain am not willing to discuss the subject. I'm too tired."

For the first time Mr. Taft made an announcement of his plans covering the period between now and election. He will turn over the affairs of the War Department to Gen. Wright at noon on next Wednesday.

Goes to Hot Springs.

He will then proceed direct to Hot Springs, Va., where he will remain until September 1, leaving there only for a short time in July to visit Cincinnati, where he will be officially notified of his nomination as the Republican candidate, Mr. Taft will then return to Hot Springs, staying there until September 1. On that date he will depart for Cincinnati, where he will make his headquarters until the election in November.

Secretary Taft expects to make a number of speeches in the campaign, but no definite plans have as yet been made. His only absences from Cincinnati will be on such trips as are made necessary by the Mount Vernon, N. Y., June 27 .- Margaret O'Rourke, seventeen years old, in trying to save her eight-year-old brother Robert, drowned with him clasped in her arms at Tuckahoe late this afternoon. Robert had a habit of going in swimming in a marble quarry hole. The pool of water is twenty feet deep. To-day Robert, with several other youngsters, was splashing about in this pool when he slipped off a rock and disappeared. One of his companions ran to Mrs. O'Rourke's home and teld Margaret that Robert was drowning. She ran to the pool, dived in and seized her brother could not swim, and before help could reach her she disappeared.

The funeral and interment was at Raleigh on Friday.

Dr. Hines was well known in newspaper and political circles, and had an extensive acquaintance among statesmen, public officials, and professional men. For several years he was associated with the late Thomas Scott, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in a confidential capacity; was editorial writer on the old National Republican of this city, and was a frequent contributor to periodicals and magazines on agricultural, industrial, and economic subjects. He took a deep interest in the development of new agricultural industries, and as an expert of the Department of Agriculture made an exhaustive investigation of the sugar beet industry. He gave much attention to the study of pure food products and made an investigation of the subject for the United States Industrial Commission, and was an ardent advocate and worker for the enactment of the present pure food law. He was also Eastern commissioner of the Cotton States Centennial, held at New Orleans in 1884; was connected with capacity; also the Louisiana Purchase and Jamestown expositions. Philadelphia, June 27.-Soaring 3,000 feet in the air, and watched by thousands of persons all over the city, the new balloon, "Philadelphia," owned by the Philadelphia Aeronautical Recreation Society, on its initial trip this afternoon, soon after its ascension from Point Breeze, suddenly collapsed and dropped in two minutes into the Schuylkill River off Gibsons Point. Prof. Samuel W. King, the veteran balloonist, was in charge of the basket, and it was his courage alone that saved the party from death. He tugged at ropes, heaved the ballast, all the while begging the women to be calm. Then, as the car hit the water, he vaulted over the side with the agility of a schoolboy. The car thus relieved,
